INVITATIONS TO ATTEND

Dear Colleagues,

The Annual Scientific Meeting is the single most important function of the society. It is the only venue we have for meeting as a group, challenging each other's ideas in an open forum, and discussing the vision we have for the future of our society. Please make your attendance a priority, submit your best work to this meeting, not to others, come to the microphone at the sessions and don't spare the presenters, and don't deprive young investigators the opportunity to learn by example as they tremble at the thought of asking a question.

Council members want to know what the society can do for you in terms of funding and educational support but we also ask for your support. Help the society grow by encouraging members of your department to attend the meeting. There are travel grants available and where possible we will do our best to assist you. Make an effort to increase the membership of the society so the diversity of intellectual activity of the society will grow and continue the tradition of a strong presence of Australians in the international arena of bone and mineral research. Please attend the Annual General Meeting so that council can tell you about its activities and hear your views. If you do not tell us what you would like from your society we will decide for you. Keep the scientific flame a brightly lit beacon. I would like to thank the chairpersons of the POC/LOC Edith Gardiner and Chris White for their hard work in organising this program and with the support of the members, I am sure that this meeting has all the ingredients needed for success.

Ego Seeman

President, ANZBMS

Dear Colleagues,

Welcome to the Annual Scientific Meeting of the ANZBMS 2004 to be held at Cypress Lakes Resort in the Hunter Valley, NSW.

Set amongst the vineyards of the Hunter Valley, Cypress Lakes Resort provides the perfect venue for this year's Scientific Meeting - for the exchange of ideas and the birth of new ones, for the presentation and discussion of data, or for meeting and relaxing with friends.

In addition, the Endocrine Society of Australia Clinical Weekend will follow our ASM at this same venue, enabling participants in both events to enjoy a free Friday afternoon in the Hunter Valley. To encourage attendance at both meetings, the Friday morning ANZBMS scientific program is focused on clinical issues and a special Clinician's Package including the ANZBMS Thursday evening Conference Dinner and registration for the Friday morning sessions is available.

A dose of academic bone and mineral medicine is recommended once a year. Cypress Lakes Resort is recommended at least once a lifetime. We look forward to your company and value your participation.

KEYNOTE SPEAKERS

GERARD KARSENTY

Baylor College of Medicine, Houston, Texas, USA

Dr Gerard Karsenty is Professor of Molecular and Human Genetics at Baylor College of Medicine. His research focuses on two main areas. One is transcriptional control of osteoblast differentiation and how it relates to the pathophysiology of human skeletal dysplasias. In this line of research, his laboratory has uncovered the role of the key transcription factor Runx2 in this process. A second line of research focuses on a genetic approach of skeletal physiology with an emphasis on the molecular basis of the spatial restriction of extracellular matrix mineralization to bone and on the control of bone mass by humans and the nervous system. Professor Karsenty's groundbreaking research has identified and elucidated key mechanisms that control bone formation, providing a number of significant novel insights into bone biology and physiology.

SUNDEEP KHOSLA

Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minnesota, USA

Dr Sundeep Khosla is Professor of Medicine and Research Chair in the Division of Endocrinology, Metabolism, and Nutrition, Mayo Clinic College of Medicine. His research focuses on clinical-investigative studies aimed at defining the pathogenesis of age-related bone loss in women and in men. In addition, he is also pursuing studies at a more basic level on the mechanisms of sex steroid action on bone. Dr Khosla is a member of the Council of the American Society for Bone and Mineral Research and is also on the Board of Directors of the US National Osteoporosis Foundation.

INVITED INTERNATIONAL SPEAKER

SERGE FERRARI

University Hospital, Geneva, Switzerland

Dr Ferrari is a Swiss National Science Foundation (SNF) Professor of Medicine in the Division of Bone Diseases, Department of Rehabilitation and Geriatrics at the University Hospital in Geneva, Switzerland. He currently serves as a consultant in genetics for the Framingham Osteoporosis Study, is a member of the Board of Directors of the Centers for Genetics, Nutrition, Exercise & Health from the International Union of Nutritional Sciences (IUNS), a member of the Editorial Board of Osteoporosis International and a consultant for numerous drug companies interested in the development of anti-osteoporosis drugs and molecular markers of osteoporosis risk. His research aims to identify candidate gene polymorphisms for osteoporosis in humans, with a particular interest for their interaction with environmental factors. Dr Ferrari also investigates the regulation of bone mass acquisition and PTH activity in transgenic models.

INVITED SATELLITE MEETING SPEAKER

FRANK RAUCH

Shores Hospital, Montreal, Canada

Dr Frank Rauch is Assistant Professor at the Department of Paediatrics at McGill University and Assistant Director of Clinical Research at The Shriners' Hospital for Children in Montreal. SATELLITE MEETINGS

INTERNATIONAL SOCIETY FOR CLINICAL DENSITOMETRY COURSES

The ANZBMS and the International Society for Clinical Densitometry (ISCD) will be collaborating to conduct two courses on clinical bone densitometry. Historically, the ANZBMS has been the premier forum in Australia for developing and promoting bone densitometry as a clinical tool. The ISCD is the premier international organisation promoting best practice in densitometry.

The first course will cater for the needs of Clinicians who request or report bone densitometry tests, and will be conducted over two full days. The second will be aimed at bone densitometry Technologists, and will also be conducted over two days; providing best practice knowledge and skills, with emphasis on the operation of dual-energy X-ray absorptiometry (DXA). Both courses will terminate with an examination that if passed, would lead to ISCD certification. Courses can be attended without taking the exam, though no certification would then be provided.

Collectively the courses will be attractive to all disciplines (endocrinology, radiology, nuclear medicine, general practice, nursing, technologists) working in the area of management of metabolic bone disease using densitometry. Courses will likely be conducted concurrently over the weekend of 14 - 15 August 2004, at a Sydney venue to be decided. If you would like further information, please indicate this on the registration form or contact the Meeting Secretariat on (02) 9437 9333.

He will participate in a symposium on osteogenesis imperfecta discussing the background for why bisphosphonates are such useful drugs in OI - other topics will include a discussion on the medical complications of OI and a talk on when bisphosphonate therapy should be stopped. There will be a symposium on environmental and lifestyle effects on paediatric bone - topics will include nutritional rickets in multicultural Australia, interaction between exercise, calcium and bone, and undernutrition effects on bone. There will also be a clinical symposium on unusual local or generalised metabolic bone disease in children. FRACTURE PROTECTION THAT

STARTS WITHIN SIX MONTHS

Actonel[®]
(risedronate sodium)

After just one vertebral fracture, another is almost three times more likely within a year.^{1*} And the risk of hip fracture also increases almost three-fold.² Actonel provides effective fracture protection in just six months.^{3,4} Because you need to prevent fractures within the first months, not years.
